UMPIRE CONNOLLY CALLS INDIAN-NATIONAL GAME OFF---OTHER SPORT

RAIN BALKS GAME WITH INDIANS: NATIONALS NOT OUT OF RUNNING

"Poor Washington, way down in the second division." That was an expression heard at the ball grounds yesterday after Umpire Townson yesterday after Umpire Tommy Connolly, clothed in his chest pro-tector and mask, announced that there would be no game on account of the weather.

The fan's remark is one any person is likely to hear. The team is n the second division. That is rue. But the Chicago team is in true. But the Chicago team is in third place and only three games ahead of the Nationals, with New York in fourth position and one and eachalf games ahead of us. That and information for members reshows how far the Washington team is out of the first quartet of garding the coming bass season clubs.

games played by the eight clubs.
Cleveland has captured 21 of their starts out of 30 games, while the Washingtons, who are fifth, have won 14 out of 30, just seven games behind.

in the league, and has scored as many runs as any other club. Any team that can average three and a half runs per game will lose a very few games with the pitchers doing their share. Still we grumble Another feature overlooked is the fact that, with the exception of Chicago, the Nationals are the only club that has not been shut out this season. The boys can always elub from being goose-egged.

Here is the record of the shutout games to date in the American washingtons, who are fifth, have won 14 out of 30, just seven games behind.

Cleveland has had good pitching. Bagby and Coveleskie have captured 16 games. Any fan will save that they are great, but would any fan trade either for Walter Johnson? Still. Walter has been able twin but three of his starts and lost five.

Both Johnson and Shaw, if they were doing the work they are capable of, would have the team up near Cleveland. Eight defeats charged to a pair of pitchers who are as good as any in the league is some handicap and that is exactly what is the trouble today with the Griffs. The team is batting second in the league, and has scored as
